PROFILE

Welcome to my webpage, this is one of my many skills. I am currently studying for my bachelors in Computer Science and i am now in my second year. I have aquired a lot of skills during the course of my studies and also being exposed to this educational environment has boosted my leadership skills.

For the time i have been at HIT i have managed to attain a certification in leadership. I am not only a good leader but i am also a good team player for i have managed to complete some software projects with some of my team members.

EXPERIENCE

I have managed to lead successful projects that have helped come up with solutions which have helped educational institutions, this was achieved through the mobile applications, web applications and desktop applications i had developed with a team i was working with. I also have a strong understanding of various programming languages such as Python, JAVA, Html & CSS, C# and C just to mention a few
